DWIGHT "Marco Grocer" ILLINOIS

We are going to give you

One Hundred and One Reasons for Buying the New Chalmers "Six"

Ten will be given each week

Chalmers "Six"—Model Twenty-four—Five-passenger Touring Car

- 61—Exclusive Design Combination Headlights—The Model 24 has combination headlights of an entirely new design. The lamps carry two sizes of electric light globes—24-candlepower globes with reflectors, for country driving, and small globes for city driving. The customary side lights have been entirely abolished, giving instead a small light which complies with all city ordinances and at the same time illuminates the street ahead in a practical way. These headlights are a part of a high powered, full electric lighting system, current being supplied direct to each lamp from the storage battery of the starting system.
- 62—Accommodation for Electric Trouble Lamp—In addition to the regular lights of the car, accommodation is provided for an electric trouble lamp, cigar lighter or other electrical device.
- 63—Improved Muffler—The new design muffler effectually silences the explosion of the motor but at the same time does not reduce the power. This muffler is one of exceptional strength.
- 64—Dash Adjustment and Dash Primer for Carburetor—The Rayfield carburetor is controlled entirely from the driving seat. On the coil of the dash is an adjustment for lean or rich mixture.
- 65—Easy Steering—The steering wheel of the new "Six" is full 19 inches in diameter. The gear itself is of the worm and full gear type, giving the greatest amount of leverage to the wheels. The front axle and steering spindle construction is of new design. Both front wheels toe in slightly, giving the minimum amount of friction between the roadway and the tire.
- 66—Accessibility of All Lubricating Points—All grease cups and oiling points on the Model 24 are readily accessible. The motor has a large breather pipe and oil funnel. Clutch is self-lubricating. Spring hangers, axles, drive shafts and all other points requiring lubrication carry large grease cups, all easy to reach.
- 67—Simple Construction Throughout—Simplicity is, in fact, one of the chief characteristics of the new Chalmers "Six." The entire mechanism is accessible and easily understood. The attention required from the operator is of the simplest kind. All adjustments are easily made but seldom required.
- 68—Equal Distribution of Weight—Through the new design placing the weight of spare tire and gasoline at the rear, the total weight of the car has been equally distributed over the chassis. The result is a car which hangs well to the road, without the customary annoying side-sway.
- 69—Positively Non-slipping Fan Belt—The fan belt of the new "Six" is 1 1/4 inches in width, made of exceptionally heavy leather. It is absolutely non-slipping and of such strength as to guarantee against breakage.
- 70—Combination Tail and License Lamp—One distinctive feature of refinement is a new design combination tail and license lamp. This lamp is so arranged that it shows a large red light at the rear of the car, but throws a white light on the license which is carried immediately beneath. This design rear light is the one most approved by all city ordinances.
