Frank L. Smiths Win From Morris Reds at Morris.

The Frank L. Smiths played in real form last Sunday at Morris and walloped the formerly almost invincible Morris ball team to the tune of 10 to 0. The noise of the Dwight boys' bats in connecting with the ball in cannon-shot method made the crowd of over 430 enthusiasts think the European war had been transferred to Morris for the day.

Sixteen good solid drives were made off the pitching of Flood and Enger, every member of the Dwight team helping in the slaughter—Boyer with four hits, a triple, double and two singles; Knight with three singles; Breneisa, a triple and single; Naas, a double and single; Ketcham, two singles, and Lannon, a triple, show what deadly effect they used the willow.

Mickelson was in grand form, although a trifle wilder than usual, giving four bases on balls, but that is practically all he did give, only allowing the Morris team two hits during the game, a double by Jim Flood and a single by Miller. The rest of the team were either hitting the air (seven striking out) or placing easy fielding chances to the Dwight team who fielded faultlessly, and whatever chances the Morris team had to score were nipped in the bud by two lightning double plays—Knight to Naas to Ketcham and Knight to Ketcham.

The scores of the Dwight team of one run in each of the second and third, five in the fourth, two in the sixth and one in the eighth, show that our boys were in the game continually throughout the game.

The Dwight team now feels that they have the Morris team on the run and expect to clean up next Saturday and Sunday when the same teams will clash on the West Side Park at Dwight—during Home Coming celebration. Eddie Higgins, the former St. Louis National League pitcher, and Dwight boy, will pitch Saturday and Otto Mickelson on Sunday.

These two games no one can afford to miss. Be sure and come and tell all the visitors about the ball games.

Party for Bride-to-Be.

On Thursday evening, the Misses Ella and Esther Mickelson entertained in honor of Miss Lillie Rosendall. One of the most interesting features of the evening, and the one which provided the most amusement, was a game called Prophecies, which, as its title indicates, consisted of speculations on Miss Lillie's future life, these being illustrated by free-hand cuttings.

A delicious three-course lunch was served. The decorations were pink and white, the place cards being miniature cupid.

The guests present were Misses Lillie Rosendall, Elsie J. Bartholic, Emma W. Welcker, Ruth M. Bartholic, Beryl R. Vickery, Clara W. Rosendall, Edith I. Bartholic, Mrs. Joseph C. Gels, and Mrs. Silas Mickelson, of Chicago.
