Frank L. Smiths Beat Cullom.

The Frank L. Smiths went to Cullom on Friday of last week, during their annual celebration and beat the Cullom ball team 5 to 4, after an exciting game which kept the 550 spectators interested until the final inning when Kluckhorn struck out Dockie Miller with Keegan on second base waiting to score the tying run. Hamilton started to pitch for Dwight and although a trifle erratic was getting long nicely until the fourth inning when a bad decision at second base prevented the side from being retired, after which the Cullom boys batted in three runs and gave them an advantage of one run. He continued in the game until the sixth when with the score 4 to 3 against them the Smiths put in Kluckhorn who held the Cullom team scoreless, striking out 7 of the 11 batters that faced him. In the eighth Paderni started things with a single after Kluckhorn had struck out. Sammy Lannon followed with a screaming double to center. Boyer hit one at the pitcher which was too hot for him to handle, although Leiserowitz threw him out at first, allowing Paderni to score the tying one. Breneisa walked and stole second, and when the pitcher tried to catch him napping, Lannon dashed for home, making it when Brown dropped a nice throw from Naas and making the score 5 to 4. The Smiths did not play in their usual fine form, making four errors and only seven hits.

Frank L. Smiths and Morris Reds Split.

Two games played between the Frank L. Smiths and Morris Reds gave each team one victory on August 15 and 16 at Dwight. The game on Saturday was all Dwight with Eddie Higgins pitching unbeatable ball, being especially effective with men on the bases, especially in the sixth inning when the first three batters hit safe, loading the bases. Higgins retired the next three men on two easy pop-ups and a strike out. The final score was 5 to 1. Jim Flood pitched for the Reds and the Smiths took liking to his curves to the tune of thirteen drives, Boyer, Breneisa, Gutel and Burns getting doubles.

Sunday's game was a sad story for the Frank L. Smiths, after leading the entire game. The Reds started their last inning with the score 5 to 2 against them with F. Flood at bat who drove a liner to right for a single.

R. Enger followed with a two-bagger and Kutz hit one to the right of Mickelson, beating the throw to first and loading the bases. A. Enger hit another safe one and one score followed after which Mickelson lost control of the ball, walking two men and making the score a tie at 5. Wood hit one to Naas who threw out Enger at the plate; then Miller hit a punky one to Knight who had an easy chance to retire the side but the ball took an awkward bounce and landed safe out in left, scoring two and making their total score seven. The Dwight team was beaten then as three men were easily retired in their half at bat. Both Mickelson and Enger pitched fairly good ball.

101 Ranch Wild West Show.

Announcement has been made of the appearance in this city on Saturday, August 29, of the 101 Ranch Wild West, the big, fresh, clean, vigorous tented amusement organization from the Oklahoma prairie, owned jointly by Edward Arlington, long a conspicuous circus figure, and the three Miller Brothers, the most famous ranchmen of the southwest. Performances will be given in the afternoon and at night, and a typically western street parade will gladden the eyes and the hearts of young and old in the nearby forenoon.

Joseph C. Miller, senior of the three owners of the 101 Ranch, is in personal, active charge of the arctic performances. He promises that patrons will witness a tournament that departs absolutely from the familiar, tedious routine of the so-called "Wild West" exhibitions. Its home and its origin are the Oklahoma range-land. Every person and feature is real, vital and characteristic. The performers are not professionals, but men, women and children on a veritable "lark" from the 101 Ranch at Bliss.

Every name is known on the ranges of the southwest for skill and daring in avocations of the range. Every champion of the lariat, sharpshooter, cowgirl, cowboy, trick rider and other participant is permanently on the payroll of the 101 Ranch. Herds of gaunt, long-horned western steers and pure-blooded buffaloes are fantastic figures. There are more than one hundred Indians, most of them fresh from the wigwams of the tribes who have their homes on the 101 Ranch land. Renowned chieftains and warriors, squaws, papooses and Indian belles and beauties are among them. They are making their first acquaintance with paleface civilization.

The 101 Ranch Show is today the largest "Wild West" show in the world, and perpetuates a picturesque, romantic period of American history surviving remotely, and most notably on the sweeps of prairie where the amusement institution had its inception. The morning street parade is a moving, living narrative of the early west, and Miller Bros. & Arlington contend it has never had like or equal. It stretches more than a mile in length and introduces every figure and feature of the performances which follow later at the circus grounds.

Interesting Letter.

The following very interesting letter was received Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Erickson, of this city, from their son, Oscar Gordon Erickson, who with his wife were touring Europe at the time the present war broke out. He says:

My Dear Folks:—You won't be more surprised to receive this letter from Montreal than we are to be here. You no doubt have read many exciting tales about Americans on the continent and the many hardships and trials they were encountering. Well, we had our share. At the time war was declared we were enjoying ourselves in a beautiful mountainous country just south of Dresden. The people did not tell us the war was a serious matter, so we remained a few days longer until one Sunday morning, two weeks ago, a man who was staying at the pension with us told us we had better leave the country before midnight the following day that every train in Germany would be used for the troops and that it would be impossible to get out after that. That very afternoon we left for Berlin, arriving there near midnight. We slept very little as the excitement was beyond description. We had our last chance to get out at 12:30, a train through to Holland. For sixteen hours we stood in a little space about three feet square, nothing to eat, and just a little water to drink. At midnight we arrived at the border and we were the only ones who did not have passports. We did not have time to get them in Berlin. Fortunately I had a letter of credit from Lyon & Healy with a stamp on it. By means of this identification we got through, arriving in Amsterdam at 4 o'clock in the morning in a driving rain storm. We had three hours of sleep there and then on our way to the Hook of Holland, where we took our boat across the English channel. We had to sit on deck all night, as there were no sleeping accommodations. Upon arriving in London we learned that our boat had been taken by the government so we had to get out as best we could. Fortunately, there was room on the Teutonic and happy we are to be here. When you see us you will hear some great stories. Yours,
GORDON.
