study in order to become. and there are a great many do not realize the amount of study required to obtain. Without the support of the financially the life of a band town would be very short. There is quite an expense connected with an organization of this kind. The summer season was very busy with the band playing numerous concerts, besides a series of concerts on business streets. For the subscription was taken up by the merchants and business men, and the boys were very glad to have their financial support. From all indications they are going to have a successful season in Dwight that every one will be proud of.
