

n 1868 to 1943

OUR OF

THE STAR.

Vol. 1 Dwight, Illinois, May, 5, 1868. No

WEEKLY

DWIGHT STAR,

Edited and Published by,
C. L. PALMER.
Dwight, Illinois.

JOB WORK

Executed in the highest style of the art, with promptness. Terms—Cash on delivery.

THE STAR.

Official Paper of the City.

It has been rumored for some time past that Dwight was to have a large weekly newspaper, but as the expected Journal has failed to make its appearance and rather than have the community disappointed(?) I have concluded and do present herewith to the people of Dwight and vicinity, the initial number of the new Weekly Journal, which, with all proper deference and modesty, but with no small amount of agreeable anticipations, I have ventured to make to the people a small weekly offering, which may be a source of satisfaction and delight in hours snatched from the engagements of business and requirements of public life. With no intentions or desires of creating undue expectations as to the future of this Journal, but merely in justice to myself, would say, that the First Number is not as complete as I intended it should be.

In conclusion permit me to say that Dwight may never have cause to be ashamed of the First Number of "The Star."

Mr. Dickens is said to have sent home $80,000 in gold as a part of the profits of his readings in this country.

ADVERTISEMENTS TO-DAY

- Dry Goods—H. Eldredge.
- " " —Judd & Co.
- M. U. Ex—Washburn. (Fr)
- Hardware—Newell & Co.
- Real Estate—Pearre & Le
- Dry Goods—J. C. Hetzel.
- Agricultural—Frank Calah
- Photographs—Ashley.

Ex—"The 'last sensation' the Star."—Ex

News Depot.

(One door North of Dwight II)

The latest

BOOKS & PAPERS

Constantly on hand

CIGARS

TOBACCO,

In great variety, on hand

Confectionerys, of the best brands. Come & see before buying elsewhere.

Special Attention paid to Ordering Periodicals & Music.

How funny things paper books can't do!

This is fac simile, actual size, of Vol. 1, No. 1, of the Dwight Star, May 5, 1868 the picture was in his office a few days after he had deceased, were seen the Reader's. The Readers of the House are the man who