

Donald Bessey
Elwin Wennerstrom

CHRISTMAN RATES HER TH BIRTHDAY

Ralph Gantzert [left], Fred L. Gantzert [right]; Mrs. Mary Gantzert, seated, holding Roland R. Gantzert, her great-grandson.

We present this week a picture of four generations of the Mrs. Mary Gantzert family, well known residents of Goodfarm and Dwight. The fact of this picture showing four generations of the Gantzert family is not unique in itself, as Mrs. Gantzert has other great-grandchildren who make four generations, but the importance of little one-year old Roland is that he is the only male child so far, of the fourth generation to carry on the name of Gantzert, the other great-grandchildren all being females. Thus Roland holds a very important niche in the house of Gantzert, and besides that is a charming little child in his own vator, with power lift; 1 14-in. McCormick 8-ft. binder; 1 6-ft. Case mower; 1 14-ft. McCormick disc; Deere manure spreader; 1 double se cultivator; 2 Hayes corn plant-er; 2 hay racks, with steel loader; 2 years old; 2 wagons; dump rake; 1 9-ft. Jamesville disc; Kip & Hamilton elevator, 52 feet;

HINERY, ETC.

Ernest J. Kelch and son, proprietors of Kelch's Sanitary Milk for more than 30 years. of Dwight on Route 17, and the is used in pasteurizing the raw trucks which have replaced method of by-gone days" for customers early in the morning the route" long enough to de Dairy Products in this thriving known milk bottle has received the hands of these veterans in breakage is approximately 2 their customers against waking glass. Mr. Ernest J. Kelch lives dairy, while his son Clifford lives Avenue. They both enjoy their scale these days—this "a-milk deed, to the tune of one-ton load and brother, that's plenty of b