POETRY.

(A poetical contributor from a distance sends us an "Epic poem" for publication in THE STAR, entitled the "Heighwayman." Our readers will be struck favorably with the beautiful and startling passages that embellishes the production. -Ed.)

THE HEIGHWAYMAN.

Come all you gallant hiawaymen that On the list of fame never rob a poor Man if you will keep your name. Pay to what i say and your attention And i will repeat the matchless fate of bold Jack donihou. In glassco city, that town Of fame the first air of breath he drew And valient deeds entitled him the gallant Donohoue. Oh donohoue was taken so early in His prime and sentanced to be hanged for That notorious crime but when they went in To his sell they found the bolts withdrew And onsd more they failed in their attempt To hang bold donohoue. Oh donohoue had Scarce lauded 12 months on the australian Shore before he took the kings highaways as he had done before. there Machlaman and underWood therse Webb and winslow to these were the chief associates of bold Jack Donohoue. For now my boys it shall nere be said that Donohoue the brave would yeald unto the Brittish crown or live to be there slave. he Wod rather roam the wild woods as a wolf Or kangaroo than work one hour for a government Cried bold jack Donohoue.
