holding him down with his nose—which he had inserted between the enemys teeth for that purpose. This soon brought him to terms of all arrearages. "Thus ever is justice meted to the righteous."

SO MOTE IT BE.

We understand that Mr. M' Williams has made arrangements with three of the town Board of Trustees, by which he has the privilege of closing his Alley—recently opened—till all other alleys within the corporate limits, are thrown open to the public as thoroughfares. We can see no reason why M' Williams' alley should be thrown open and others left closed. Why not the Trustees, make a sweeping ordinance that will make TOWN PROPERTY PUBLIC PROPERTY? and not only open all alleys, but provide for the obstruction of all alleys. Alleys might as well be closed as obstructed in the manner they now are by heaps of manure so as to make it next to impossible to get through them. The condition of the alleys in Dwight is shameful in the extreme, and they are made so by men keeping only cows, and having no particular need to "navigate" them, themselves. We would like to see some action on this matter by the Board.

Mr. J. C. Lewis the jeweler, asks us to "punch up" some Doctor in town, that made a bet with him on the Pennsylvania election, and did not come to time with his ten dollars—the amount of the bet lost. We would say to Mr. Lewis that we are willing to publish anything he may desire in the shape of a card with his name appended FOR MONEY, but we cannot afford to descend to uncalled-for personalities for fun.

"Hunting Items" has to go begging again this week, for want of space. We have so much other matter on hand that we are forced to print a Supplement. Next week we will try and get to it.

The Electeon on Tuesday, went off very quietly. No disturbance "to speak of,"—resulting in a Republican majority in the town of Dwight of ninety nine.
